Customer Case Study

Established in 1865 Trutex is the single largest school brand. They distribute their school & sports wear through independent retailers. In 2006, David Storey, the MD of Trutex Ltd recognised the need for an IT system to help them continue their success. The main issues driving the need for change were that an unintegrated system created inefficiencies over stocking in some areas & then shortages in others, a large amount of time & resources were spent on processes such as mailing invoices, statements & order confirmation. The inefficiencies within the warehouse led to poor customer service & a loss of customers due to this.

Marketing & Sales

Maintains customer and telemarketing prospect details, to do lists and appointment calendars. Multiple currency price lists opportunities & quotations. Orders can be traced from planning to shipment with sales forecasting and a complete audit trail.

Medatech implemented a completely integrated solution that provides total visibility across key areas of the business generating significant saving of efforts in all departments & processes. Priority has provided them with accurate stock & cost information. It provides the ability to manage demands across all elements of the supply chain. In Short, Priority ERP has provided Tutex with a completely automated environment in which to do business with its many & varied customers.

"Medatech's SFDC solution has led to reduced costs on overheads and correcting human error, whilst shipping higher stock volumes every day.

Looking back, I find it hard to imagine how we ever did without it."
